COMMANDER'S MISSION BRIEFING

Carefully Taught

We've spent a lot of time on events in the last 12 months. RCX, AMA Expo, Youth Expo, OC Fair, the Annual Squadron Fly-In, and our new upcoming "Un-Contest".

WHY?

Is it hard work? Yes it is!
Is it fun? Some of the time.
Is it better than flying or building? Not really.

So WHY?????

"Carefully Taught." To me, this is why we do all this.

Most clubs focus on the "now" of our industry which at the moment seems to be foam ready-to-fly planes. I have nothing against foam ready-to-fly planes, but there's something amazing about "building" that people are more out of touch with than ever before. I just finished reading Bill Pritchett's article in Model Aviation (Bill is the AMA Education Director). He points out the joys of modeling (not just flying a foamy but actually building an airplane) and of how rewarding passing this activity on to others can be. And of the importance it can have! It's a great article, you might want to go back and take a look.

Our club is different than most. In our by-laws, one of the directives is to "promote scale modeling". Our club takes that seriously. Each one of these time-consuming public events is designed to put modeling in front of the public. Last night at our board meeting, Joni pointed out that on the new-members apps MANY new members indicated the saw us at a public event and that the display of an airplane in bones is what brought their attention to our club.

We not only enjoy modeling but we want to pass it on to more people. And that's what these events truly are all about.

So, when you're toiling away as a volunteer at this month's fly-in or if you find yourself standing behind a table at the Squadron "booth" in your extra-nifty black-shirt, don't forget the purpose. "Carefully Taught."
YOU, Squadron members, are teaching R/C scale modeling to more people, new people, unique people, creative people.. We call these people "modelers!"

So, enjoy the events, get out and fly, get that next model done, and don't forget to pass on that passion to the next generation of modelers.

We'll see YOU at the June Scale Squadron Fly-In.

WHAT IS THIS AIRPLANE?

FLYOCMA.COM

Can you identify this airplane? That is great, but don't tell your buddies. At the next general meeting we will give you a piece of paper for you to write your answer on. Your answer will go in to a drawing for the night of the meeting. In the past Hobby People have donated prizes for this drawing.

The next Squadron newsletter will contain detailed information about this ariplane for your reading pleasure.
